“ Kirk was my childhood friend. I met him when we moved down the street from his family. He was sitting in the yard on a chase lounge in a body cast. He had been hit by a car. I visited every day until he got better. He was a little over 2 years older than me but he watched out for me. We had many adventures together. A couple of dangerous ones that I remember. I have often thought of him. I was sad to read this obituary, I hope to see him again someday. garth
