“ So sad to hear. i am glad I was able to share a meal with Aunt Wilma a while back. Had fun talking of other family members and their activities. Even when I was little I remember her loving company and laying out a huge feast! Wish we would have spent more afternoons at their farm, but maybe they knew the shenanigans that could have happened putting me with those older Werner boys!!

“ I'm sure all of our family and even alot of friends can relate to this memory as we were growing up.I don't think, no matter how young or old, that any of us will ever forget the "loudness" created of laughter and hollering over many games of cards, mainly Euchre and 500 and the board game, Wahoo, and even checkers and Cribbage! The women against the men! Brings back alot of wonderful memories and I can just hear each one's voice, including Aunt Wilma's as they cackled or disagreed as the games were played. Also, ALL of the many gatherings, for birthdays or holidays, with all of our aunts and uncles and all of our cousins,...the good ol' days!
Aunt Wilma, I love you and you will be missed.
Rest in Peace...I know how happy you must be! Love, Anne

Anne, this is so absolutely true! We were all together for all those occasions as we grew up and every single one of them was filled with that competitive raucous as the women and men played against each other. So many wonderful memories! Gosh I wish we had pictures of all that! It's not to be forgotten!
